

YPN Museum Plunge '07

What you've forgotten
since the 4th Grade

Thursday, August 23
5:00 – 9:30 p.m.
Studebaker National Museum
Corner of Washington and Chapin streets, South Bend

Gather with your peers as we celebrate the second anniversary of YPN. And, we've brought field trips back! No permission slips, no chaperones and no sack lunches will be permitted. Instead, enjoy teaser tours of this region's most historic sites, along with hors d'oeuvres from LaSalle Grill, drinks, music and mingling.

You'll tour the Studebaker National Museum, Northern Indiana Center for History and The Oliver Mansion (Copshaholm).

Think your career is going nowhere?

James Oliver started out as a shepherd. He ended up one of the most influential inventors and industrialists in the U.S. Talk about a promotion! Come check out his son's historic 38-room mansion.

Was there a time before reality TV?

Yes! And before Paris "going to jail" was the top story on the evening news. The Center for History's Changing Channels exhibit showcases unforgettable television moments and explores the way America has been changed by the tube - from Walter Cronkite's "And that's the way it is" to Elaine's "Yada, yada, yada."

How did the Studebakers make it so big?

Take a ride through life in the past lane! Before they were manufacturing cars and trucks, the Studebaker brothers were filling wagon orders for the Civil War. They also manufactured the Amphibious Weasel. Now that just sounds cool!

Full access to all three museums and the three teaser tours include:

- The Center for History
 - Raclin Gallery of Notre Dame History
 - Voyages Gallery of Local History
- The Studebaker Museum (largest collection in museum's history)
- Alternative Fuel Vehicles Exhibition
- Changing Channels Exhibition:
 - How TV Transformed America
- Media Coverage of Civil Rights Exhibition
- Copshaholm, The Oliver Mansion
- Historic Oliver Gardens
